PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Dear Southwest Jr. Livestock Show Participants and Families,

It is my pleasure to welcome you to the 84th annual Southwest Jr. Livestock Show. Though it feels like we just got done with last year's projects it is time to start again. It is fun to see the quality of projects and most importantly the quality of youth progress significantly every year; because of this, the quality of the sale has hit an all-time high in 2023. It reminds me of the FFA Creed when it says, "the better things we now enjoy have come to us from the struggles of former years." Through great sacrifices of many community members and donations of great people and associations, you participants get to enjoy the best show and sale in the State of Utah.

I will be quoting the FFA Creed quite a bit in the message. One thing I want to focus on is this out of the FFA Creed, "I believe...to be engaged in other agricultural pursuits, is pleasant as well as challenging." These projects you are raising are supposed to be rewarding yet challenging. Challenges are what help make us strong as individuals. As you pursue that buckle, challenge yourself to know what you need to do to be better at showmanship. Challenge yourself to know what your animal needs to be better. I also challenge you to challenge your friends create a friendly competition push each other to be better in the show ring and then cheer each other on.

Also in the FFA Creed it mentions, "I believe in less dependence on begging and more power in bargaining." Go out and bargain with business that you support to support you. You are raising a prime product be proud of that. Go get businesses to bid on your projects, this will allow you to obtain a higher sale price on sale day. Most importantly, this will allow you to market a product you raised and be proud of it, as you should be. Do not forget part of this bargaining is your support who supports you. Support the local businesses that support the show without these businesses this show is nothing. Thank your buyers they deserve your schmoozing.

Wrapping up this letter I want thank everyone one involved in the livestock show. Scott Christensen with the Diamond Z Arena takes pride in making the facilities in tiptop shape and puts in countless hours to keep the facilities working for us. All the board and committee members, be sure to thank them. We put in these volunteer hours because we believe in the future of agriculture and we believe in you. See you at the Diamond Z Arena September 4-7 of 2024.

Best Regards,

Steve Barton, President

4. Ownership of animals: The exhibitor will own, possess, feed, and care for his/her project animal(s) for not less than 90 consecutive days for market beef, market swine, market lambs and market goats immediately prior to the show. No interruption of ownership or possession can occur.

5. Tagging: The Southwest Jr. Livestock Committee will tag each lamb, goat, hog and beef at a designated place. Should a tag be lost or pulled out of the animal's ear, the exhibitor will advise the committee supervisor immediately so the tag can be replaced and the appropriate paperwork can be processed. Only animals listed on the tagging sheets will be eligible for the show. There will be absolutely no late tagging after the 3rd tagging date. No Exceptions!

Tagging Extra Animals: Exhibitors will be allowed 3 tags if showing 1 species or 4 tags if showing 2 species. If you show a hog and any other species or a steer and any other species, you will be allowed to sell both. Arrival of Show Entries

1. All entries must be on the grounds by 5 p.m. on Wednesday, September 4th. Entries arriving at a later time will be disqualified unless sufficient reason is given to the show management to allow the entries into the show. 3. All livestock entries will be weighed according to the schedule on page 2, by the committee appointed by the show management. Each exhibitor should check carefully with the weighing committee at the time his/her entries are weighed. Livestock weights may not be challenged except at the time of the original weighing of the entries. ABSOLUTELY NO RE-WEIGHTS! Beef, hogs, lambs, and goats will be sold by entry weight off truck.
4. The show management will appoint a committee of competent persons to act as a sifting committee. Sifting will be done prior to judging and the committee has the authority to withdraw from competition any entry that does not meet classification requirements, or that is not considered of a grade quality good enough to compete. (All animals must grade at least "select"). Sifted animals will not be exhibited or sold. Cattle not halter broke and any unruly animals will be sifted. No nurse animals will be allowed at the show. Animals not showing evidence of prior fitting will be denied entry into the show at time of weighing.
5. Fitting on show grounds: The fitting of animals will take place in areas designated by the Livestock Show Committee. Parents, guardians, siblings, club leaders, Extension/4-H Agents, and FFA Advisors may assist, and are encouraged to assist the younger exhibitors. However, each exhibitor must be working with the project animal and be in attendance with that animal during the entire fitting process.

There is also a check off and brand inspection fee for the beef. There will also be a check off fee assessed for Lambs & Hogs.

MARKET ANIMAL HEALTH RULES & CODE OF ETHICS

This code of ethics applies to anyone exhibiting animals at livestock shows in the State of Utah. It includes Junior as well as Open Class exhibitors who compete in structured classes of competition. All classes of livestock offered at the livestock event are included. The following practices or procedures are unacceptable and are defined as being deceptive, fraudulent, unethical, and inhumane in the care, fitting, preparation, and showing of all classes of livestock. The use of any illegal drugs is prohibited. Legal or illegal substances used to phenotypically alter the appearance of an animal entered in livestock events is prohibited (see rule #3). Use of illegal drugs is considered a pre-meditated act! Furthermore, any information obtained in the practice of illegal alteration of an animal will be turned over to the proper authorities for criminal prosecution. This is a one-strike and you are out policy! Exhibitors will forfeit any premium, awards, or auction proceeds, and will be prohibited from further competition at shows in the State of Utah, as well as being subject to criminal prosecution if proven guilty.

The following is a listing of guidelines all exhibitors must follow to enter livestock at organized competitive events.

1. Animal Health: All animals present at the show must be in good health and free from active infectious diseases (ringworm etc.). Animals must not have open wounds or sores. All male market animals must be castrated. The fitness of animals to be present at the show shall be up to the sole discretion of the Show committee and the Show veterinarian. Market animals that do not meet these requirements or otherwise are deemed unacceptable by the committee and veterinarian must be immediately removed from the show grounds.

HOGS: Porcine Reproductive and Respiratory Syndrome (PRRS) was first reported in the USA in 1987. At that time, it was called “mystery swine disease.” This disease has become a major problem in the United States in past years. This disease is caused by a virus in the group Arteriviridae. Transmission of the virus comes from the infected pig via several different routes.

1. Aerosol transmission, this means by breathing, sneezing, or coughing.
2. The virus can be excreted in the urine and feces of infected pigs.
3. It may be transferred in the semen.

PRRS appears to have two distinct clinical phases.

1. Reproductive failure.
2. Post weaning respiratory disease. And suckling pigs develop a characteristic thumping respiratory pattern, which is consistent with interstitial pneumonia.

The pork industry in Utah has requested of Utah Department of Agriculture and Food that new regulations be passed to help control this disease. The Agriculture Advisory Board agrees with this request. Therefore, new proposed rules are being enacted to help control this devastating disease. So, changes in the Utah Rules to import pigs into our state are as follows:

1. All breeding and exhibition swine 3 months of age and over must be tested negative for PRRS virus within 30 days prior to entry into Utah.
2. Exhibition swine that have attended livestock shows in Utah should not be returned to Utah farms but should go directly to slaughter.
3. Javelina or Peccary, and feral or wild hogs such as Eurasian or Russian wild hogs (Sus scrofa) are considered invasive species in Utah, capable of establishing wild reservoirs of disease such as brucellosis, pseudorabies, and PRRS.

2. Drug withdrawal: It is unethical and in most cases even unlawful to administer drugs to livestock within 20 to 30 days of slaughter. Animals too unmanageable to be shown should be withdrawn from their class rather than be tranquilized. Our local show committee and the show veterinarian will monitor this situation. By federal regulations, random testing will occur at slaughter, and animals will be condemned which have been given any injection or oral dosages of tranquilizers, pain killers, antibiotics, diuretics, steroids, or other foreign substances during withdrawal periods before slaughter. All sales money will be withheld in such cases. Bloat medicine and other medications with no withdrawal requirements may be permissible. Exhibitors need to be aware of potential health hazards to consumers who eat animals that have received any above-mentioned dosages. Please don't put someone's life in jeopardy.

3. Code of Ethics (Rule 3a through 3g).

Unapproved drugs are prohibited. Unapproved means not approved by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) and/or the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) for slaughter animals that may be destined for human consumption. This includes the use of all products that are not FDA approved including but not limited to any diuretic, unapproved growth stimulant or other unapproved medication meant for human usage.

*Another important point to remember is that products labeled "all natural" that are not FDA approved may contain ingredients that can result in a positive test. It is your responsibility to know what ingredients are included in products labeled as "all natural."

a. Treating an animal internally or externally, with any irritant, counterirritant, or other substance used to artificially change the conformation or appearance of an animal for show is considered unethical, inhumane, and is prohibited. This includes, but is not limited to, the use of graphite, powders, hemp, artificial hair, coloring, common products such as fly spray, ointment, or liniment used to the point that it is irritating, or similar type products. Adding false hair or hair-like material, fleece, or skin at any point, spot, or area of the animal's body is illegal and will result in immediate disqualification. Any liquid or substance not considered part of an accepted and normal diet for livestock is deemed illegal and inhumane. For example: the use of alcoholic or carbonated beverages as a drench or filler, etc. Immediate Attention Tubing will not be allowed unless the show veterinarian or a show official is present and is needed for emergency purposes only.

b. The use of tranquilizers, sedatives, or depressants which alter the physical or physiological state of the animal, is illegal. Exceptions to this rule would be licensed, certified veterinarians, treatment for a recognized disease or injury, or recommendation for tranquilizing breeding animals in heat that might compromise the safety of others. The drugs must be approved by the Food and Drug Administration for use in meat producing animals. All exhibitors will advise show management of any drug and/or medication administered to an animal that might be detected at the time of showing or at meat inspection. The name of the drug, its purpose, the person who administered the drug, time, and date of administration will be presented to show management prior to the showing and sale of the animal. Failure to report this information will result in severe penalty and/or disqualification. Any use of drugs or substances not approved by the Food and Drug Administration is strictly prohibited. The use of feed products with Ractopamine (i.e. Paylene) is allowed in swine at the legal dose of 9 grams per ton approved by the Food & Drug Administration. Violation of this rule will result in disciplinary action, decided by the committee with up to a lifetime ban from the show. All animals entered into livestock competition will be subject to testing for foreign substances that exceed acceptable levels established by the FDA, FSIS, USDA, or EPA. During the livestock event, in the case of an animals requiring treatment, all medication shall be administered by a licensed veterinarian and the livestock show officials shall be notified.

c. Surgery, injection or insertion of foreign material under the skin and/or into the flesh of an animal to change the natural contour, conformation, or appearance of an animal's body is illegal. This includes vegetable oil, silicon, or any other substance used to alter an animals shape. Acceptable practices of physical preparations, which are allowed, include: clipping of hair, trimming of hooves, dehorning, or removal of ancillary teats.

d. The use of inhumane fitting, showing, and/or handling practices or devices shall not be tolerated. For example: breaking of tails, striking of the animal to cause swelling or for bracing purposes, use of an electrical contrivance, muzzles that restrict drinking are prohibited, etc. is not acceptable.

e. Direct criticism or interference with the judge, show management, other exhibitors, breed representatives, or show officials before, during, or after the competitive event is prohibited.

f. At the time an animal is sold at auction at the livestock show the exhibitors shall be held directly responsible for animals that are rejected at the processing center due to the presence of foreign residues. The seller may be liable to the buyer for an amount equal to three times the purchase price and may also be liable for attorney's fees and civil penalties. Show management may share acceptable intelligence and evidence information with FDA or USDA. If, for any reason, the FDA or USDA inspectors must remove any part of a meat animal carcass, the market price will be discounted.

g. Show management reserves the right to require animal health certificates. Health inspection and diagnostic tests may be made before or after animals are on the livestock show premises for exhibitor and animal safety, or to inaugurate disease control procedures which may become necessary in emergencies as determined by animal health officials. Any violation of the "Southwest Junior Livestock Code of Ethics" or specific rules will result in forfeiture of premiums and awards, disqualification, and may result in probationary status and/or loss of eligibility for future participation in the livestock show. Possible civil penalties may be imposed by the proper authorities based on evidence provided by the livestock show of exhibitors in violation of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act or the animal mistreatment, neglect, and abandonment laws that apply on the local, state, and national levels. Other cooperating shows will be notified of the action taken by show management which may affect the eligibility of the individual, group, or sponsoring organization for participation at other shows. The decision of the livestock show management will be final.

Protests

1. All protests must be made in writing and presented to the show management within six hours after the cause or causes of protest. The protest must be accompanied by a $50.00 fee. If the protest is judged unjustifiable, the submitted fee will be forfeited to the show.

Instruction to Judges

1. Judges are instructed to select 1st, 2nd, and 3rd places in all open classes. In the Junior Division, judging will be done according to the classification system, A, B, C. Market beef and lambs will be classified High Choice, Choice, and Select. Market hogs will be graded US No. 1, US No. 2, and US No. 3. Judges are requested to give reasons for their placing.
2. No more than two premiums will be allowed to one exhibitor in any one class.
3. Where insufficient number of exhibits are shown to permit three places in the open classes the judges will then place the animals exhibited according to the place that in their opinion the exhibit merits and shall not give an exhibit first place, for instance, because it happens to be the one exhibit in that class.
4. In Fitting and Showmanship and Market contests exhibitor must show their own animal. With the exception of the Round Robin/Master Senior Showman on Friday.
5. All Special Awards will be given at the sale ring before the sale starting at 9:00 a.m. All winners must be present unless excused by management.

Show Clean-Up

All exhibitors are required to donate 2 hours to help clean-up the show barn. They can do this on Saturday after the show or the Monday following the show. There will be a committee that they will need to sign in and out with. If they do not get their names on the list a $20 fee will be assessed to their checks.

All animals must be paid for by October 1, 2024. Starting October 1, 2024 interest will be charged at 18% on unpaid balance.

The person who signs the official sales sheet following acceptance of the bid by the auctioneer shall be liable for the payment of the full purchase price irrespective of any arrangements with others to share all or a portion of the bid price.

Invitations have been sent out to packers and feeder buyers throughout the state to attend this sale and a good market is assured for all livestock offered. A competent auctioneer and experienced helpers will conduct this sale to obtain full value of your livestock.

Buyers can assist exhibitors by buying animals in the following ways:

1. If you want some superior meat, you can purchase an animal and the show committee will deliver it to the local meat packer of your choice. He will prepare the meat as you direct. The entire cost of the animal and meat preparation will be paid by you, the buyer.
2. Local livestock buyers will establish a base market price for each class of animal and will take the animals at that price. The value of the animal will be computed using this base price and will be listed on the sale sheet as a dollar value. You may increase this animal value for the exhibitor by raising this value in dollars as you wish. The animals will be sold on a per animal basis. You will be charged for the increase you make in the total animal value for the exhibitor.

Example:

A lamb weighing 120 pounds with a base price of 1.00 per pound will have a dollar value of $120.00.

You may wish to raise this value by $380.00 give a total value to the exhibitor of $500.00.

You make a contribution of $380.00 to the exhibitor and the local livestock dealer pays $120.00 and will take the animal.

In both ways of purchase the difference between the base value and total value of the animal is tax deductible. If you prefer, you may place an order for purchase with the auction committee and a trained buyer will bid your order for you.
